Life after Rookie League: An Intermediate League

The 7:30 Monday Open League is an intermediate league. When you register for this league, you need to indicate your level of experience. Teams are formed through a draft process based on a curler's experience and interests. After skips are determined, registration information will be shared with the skips so that they can pick their team members. Every attempt will be made to balance teams. In this league, each team can have only four players—no fifths. When subs are used, they must play lead.

This is a great opportunity for curlers who aren't on a team to get on a team to meet other curlers. It's a great opportunity for an experienced curler to try skipping. It's a great opportunity for skips to teach thirds and to mentor new curlers.

Curlers who sign up for this league will be notified shortly after the draft process so that they know with whom they are curling. The draft will be held sometime between the Skips' meeting and the Fall meeting. Skips are reminded that they must notify the Playdown Chairperson by November 15 which club championships the team will participate in if eligible: Men's, Women's, Open. If no election is made, the default rule is that a single gender team will be eligible to participate in the appropriate men's or women's club championships and not the open league club championship.

Those curlers who curled in the open league last year should fill out this form again this year if they intend to curl in the league. Teams will be reshuffled to accommodate new members.
